

ON BOARD MISSING AIR FORCE PLANE

Metz, Germany, Nov. 14—(P)—Search planes braved ice fog in the treacherous mountains of southern France today looking for a U.S. flying boxcar crashed down with 36 aboard, to early this afternoon they found no trace of it.

U.S. aircraft from bases in many and England combed the area in a 40-mile corridor between Bordeaux and Dijon, where plane was last heard from on flight from Frankfurt to the U.S. supply port at Bordeaux.

Airforce officials said search headquarters have been established at Lyons, France, and planes will be directed and fueled from there until the plane is found or the search called off.

More than 60 planes, including the from U.S. air bases in England, took off at dawn to look for the big twin-engine C-54 transport which disappeared while flying from Frankfurt to the U.S. supply port at Bordeaux.

Air officials said the passengers were 29 enlisted airmen and one officer, while the crew included five officers.

The airmen were being flown to Bordeaux to organize a motor pool at the soldier was returning from a tour in Germany.

The plane was last heard from shortly before noon yesterday, over the Moulins area of central France, 100 miles southwest of Paris. Airforce officials feared the big ship might have hit a mountain peak.

Thick fog blanketed the mountains in that section yesterday. Searchers last night could find no traces of the missing transport.

The search was concentrated on a 40-mile-wide strip between Dijon and Bordeaux, with some planes scanning the sea off the northwest French coast in case the missing aircraft overshot Bordeaux.

Searchers found wreckage, one man, Wiesbaden, and the other in Paris, were en route by car to the southern French region where the plane may have crashed. At Clermont-Ferrand, near the Mont Dore ski area, where reports said they heard what might have been a plane crash yesterday, search parties said today they had found no trace of the missing plane during an all-night search. It is in this region that a crashing Mont Dore rears 6,180 feet into the clouds.

Eleven Orphaned Brothers and Sisters Meet Couple Who May Be Foster Parents
Pontiac, Mich., Nov. 14—(P)—That all-important first meeting between 11 orphaned brothers and sisters and a well-to-do, middle-aged Pittsburgh couple who may become their foster parents was carried anxiously by both sides today.

The first face-to-face get-together was scheduled at the large, humble home at nearby Leonard, Mich., which Murray Moore and his wife, Mary Jean, had bought for their big family only a few weeks ago. Last Saturday the parents, who were killed in an auto smashup, also took the lives of four beer-drinking youths in the other car.

John Donald Babb, big, balding Pittsburgh insurance broker, and an attractive wife, Jean, were among the many around the nation whose sympathies were roused by the tragedy. With three children of their own, they immediately expressed interest in adopting all 11 more children, ranging in age from only six weeks to 15.

With only an enlarged photograph of the 11 to go on, the Babb set out from Pittsburgh in their car. They arrived here early last evening but spent the night in a Pontiac hotel room without surveying to Leonard.

Today they planned to drive the 15 miles to the small town to visit the children, returning to Pontiac in time for a probate court hearing.

Almost 6,000 Prisoners of War Are Reported Victims of Atrocity Slayings by Reds

Pusan, Korea, Nov. 14—(P)—The U.S. Eighth Army's top lawyer today said Communists have killed at least 5,790 United Nations prisoners of war, other than South Korean troops, in atrocity slayings since the start of the war.

Col. James M. Hanley of Seattle, chief of the Eighth Army's Judge Advocate Section, said in a statement about 5,500 of the listed victims were Americans and the rest volunteers from other countries.

He said also that North Korean and Chinese Red troops have shown particular animosity toward South Korean soldiers and there have been occasions when captured South Koreans were murdered but other U.N. troops taken with them were spared.

Hanley's statement estimated about 250,000 Korean civilians had been killed by Communists since the start of fighting.

He said 25,575 political prisoners and local South Korean officials were killed in the Red retreat to North Korea in the fall of 1950. An additional 10,284 North Korean civilians were killed in October as the North Korean army made a further retreat toward the Yalu river border between Korea and Manchuria. Most of the latter were labeled "reactionaries," Hanley said.

Hanley's figures showed that North Korean Reds had killed about 3,000 American prisoners of war up to October 31, 1950, about the time Red China entered the fighting. From then on most of the atrocity killings have been the work of Chinese Reds, he said.

Since the Chinese entered the war they have killed 2,643 U.N. soldiers, exclusive of South Koreans, Hanley reported. He said North Korean troops in that time had committed only 147 atrocity slayings.

Parents to Follow Children's Routine During Open House at Beaty Thursday

Principal Herbert D. Harris and his faculty at Beaty Junior High School extend a cordial invitation to all parents for open house Thursday evening, when members of the Traffic Squad will be in the halls to locate classrooms and visitors will follow in their children's footsteps for a day.

Pupils have prepared cards containing their daily schedules and parents will follow this routine during their American Education Week visit to the school tomorrow night. Doors open at 7:30 o'clock and visitors will report first to the proper home rooms for explanations. 7:45 to 7:50. The regular Thursday program will begin at 7:50 and classes, with shortened periods, will end at 9:20. Teachers will be in their rooms after that time for individual greetings and conferences.

A similar schedule was followed last night in Warren High School, where Principal Floyd W. Bathurst and his teaching staff greeted about 350 parents. Student Council members served as guides for the visitors and instructions were given the "adult pupils" over the public address system.

Using the P.A. system, Mr. Bathurst extended a welcome as parents sat in their home rooms and, at the close of the seven-period schedule, thanked them for their interest and invited them to come again at any time. Teachers were in their individual rooms afterward for consultation.

Alice Anderson, principal at the Lady building, reports over 100 persons attended open house and the PTA meeting at her school last night. Eugene Brown, Red Cross first aid chairman, explained that course of instruction and the organization voted to sponsor a class to begin soon after the first of the year. Another vote taken will provide a Thanksgiving treat for the students. Room awards went to Miss Phyllis Stewart's third grade for the most parents present and to Miss Elizabeth VanLuvane's room for the most fathers in attendance.

Miss Stewart, program chairman, presented fifty grade children in a group of songs. Miss Anderson directed them in the following: Evening Prayer; Come Thou Almighty King; Harvest Hymn; Francis Schöner. Next, the fifth grade Harmonica Kids, accompanied by Miss Anderson, played Taps; America; Lovely May and Ding Dong Bell. A special movie showed how PTA groups have been instrumental in securing better schools.

Refreshments were served by first grade mothers. Mrs. Norton Harris as chairman. The table was beautifully decorated with bronze and gold mums and carried out a Thanksgiving theme. White mums decorated the auditorium.

Tonight's visitation schedule calls for Home Street open house at 7:30 o'clock and a combined Parents' Night and PTA meeting at the Seneca building at 8 p.m. Rounding out the week's program, along with Beaty, East Street school will have its open house Thursday evening, extending a cordial invitation to all its parents and friends.

CIVIL DEFENSE TEST DRILL FOR NEW YORK
New York, Nov. 14—(P)—Some 32,000 Civil Defense workers in the nation's largest city will be called out in a test drill tonight when two imaginary atomic "bombs" hit the city.

The test is a prelude to a surprise drill scheduled for sometime next week, when all 8,000,000 persons in the city are supposed to participate.

With only an enlarged photograph of the 11 to go on, the Babb set out from Pittsburgh in their car. They arrived here early last evening but spent the night in a Pontiac hotel room without surveying to Leonard.

Today they planned to drive the 15 miles to the small town to visit the children, returning to Pontiac in time for a probate court hearing.

Babb, 47-year-old World War II veteran, told reporters on his arrival here that he already knows the names, ages and other data of 11.

The Babb have two boys and one girl, the oldest 14 and the youngest 11. Five of the Moore children are boys and six are girls. Thus a merger of the two families would give the Babb seven boys and seven girls.

Communist Negotiators Challenge Allies To Agree to Cease-Fire or Break Off Talks

Tornado Destroys Nearly a Third Of Illinois Village

Campbell Hill, Ill., Nov. 14—(P)—A tornado destroyed nearly a third of this southwestern Illinois town, yesterday. Not a single person was killed.

Seven persons in the 800 population were injured, but only two seriously. The storm leaped from the southwest late yesterday and cut a 400-yard-wide scar across the center of the town.

While the wind, fashioned a disaster scene, it also played some strange tricks. The town fire engine, bright and unscratched, stood in its usual place on the ground floor of the fire house. But the fire house itself was gone, lifted away by the wind.

A threshing combine, brand new and waiting for a buyer while resting on a lot behind the general store, was picked up and hurled against the side of a house 80 yards away.

And Lesbe C. Isom, a barber returned from a hunting trip after the storm, found his bird dog and television set somehow had escaped injury on the first floor of his shop. The second floor of the structure and most of the shop itself had crumbled like a flakey pie crust.

$2 MILLION WEALTH ADMITTED BY HAGUE
Camden, N. J., Nov. 14—(P)—Former Jersey City Mayor Frank Hague admits he has sufficient amount of wealth to cover a $2,000,000 libel suit against him, but refuses to disclose whether he has more than that amount, his lawyer says.

Hague's attorney, former U.S. Senator John Milton, gave the first indication of the size of Hague's wealth at a special pretrial hearing Friday in superior court on the suit filed by John Warren.

Milton had been called to answer 80 questions at the hearing before Superior Court Judge Frank T. Lloyd. The questions, submitted in writing by Warren's attorneys, concerned the ex-Democratic mayor's wealth.

Warren's suit, postponed many times, is an outgrowth of a political dispute between himself and Hague in 1941.

SIX-YEAR OLD GIRL IS REPORTED MISSING
Pittsburgh, Nov. 14—(P)—A six-year-old girl, wearing only a striped T-shirt and panties, is missing today after an all-night search by extra police squads.

She is little Sandra Lee Sheasley, who left home with her black and white dog last night. The pet returned home alone before dawn.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Katherine Sheasley, said her daughter left while the mother was at a neighborhood store. The girl's parents are separated.

TURKEY TIME ALL OVER THE NATION—With Thanksgiving eight brief days away and Christmas a month later, so today it's a turkey picture taken right in Warren county at the Consolidated Turkey Farm, Inc., Big Four road, Glade township, operated by Ben H. Mathis. While it used to require three years to raise a bird to a 24-pound weight, Mr. Mathis has raised 2,000 of these gorgeous White Hollands, hatched last April, to an average weight of 10 pounds for hens and 24 pounds for toms. Raised on slats, never allowed to touch the ground, these birds are started on growing mash in pellet form the first eight weeks, then get nothing but pure grain, and they've eaten $7,000 worth of feed so far. Mr. Mathis' business is mostly mail order, he having received orders today for 500 turkeys to be sent to Chicago, Akron, Cleveland and St. Louis. Even watered automatically, these birds lead a rather uninteresting life with one end in view, the oven, the table, and ultimate obscurity until the next feast.

Final Death Toll In Wreck of Swift Trains Not Known

Evansville, Wyo., Nov. 14—(P)—Sixteen bodies have been recovered from the wreckage of two swift passenger trains, but the final death toll and the cause of the accident both were unknown today.

The trains collided Monday. Workmen at the site of the wreck, three miles west of here, said they believed they could see one body, maybe more, in the shredded coaches. Portions of other bodies protruded from the mess, but it was thought these might be parts of bodies already removed. Two bodies were recovered yesterday.

Coroner Gilbert O. Bulls, of Uinta county reported that a third body had been found. But the report proved to be wrong. The "body" was a ragged bundle of clothing.

Giant cranes and bulldozers worked to peel off layers of stacked wreckage, portions of what once were the streamlined Cities of San Francisco and Los Angeles. The San Francisco ripped into the rear of the Los Angeles which had halted at a block signal.

MacArthur Ignores Protests To Blast the Administration

Seattle, Nov. 14—(P)—General Douglas MacArthur last night told Seattle and the nation that the Truman administration is following a policy which, if continued, can lead to the ruination of the country.

The general devoted only 3 minutes of a 45 minute address to the Seattle Centennial which he was invited here to open and to which labor groups had urged him to confine his remarks. But he referred frequently to the pioneer spirit and attitude in his blistering attack on the federal government.

He never mentioned Mr. Truman or the Democratic party by name—but he left no doubt that he felt the "funous processes of which he spoke could be halted only by a change of administration."

"The people have it in their hands," he declared in his speech which was nationally broadcast, "to restore morality, wisdom and vision to the direction of our foreign and domestic affairs."

And immediately one of the men who had asked him to refrain from discussing politics while opening the city's 100th anniversary program charged him with being a candidate for president of the United States.

The charge was made by Cong. Hugh Mitchell (D-Wash.) in a statement issued within minutes after the general concluded his talk on the University of Washington campus—where political speakers normally are banned.

MacArthur told the 9,000 persons who squeezed into the university's athletic pavilion that what he termed the administration's blunders are leading to a third world war, its domestic policies are drifting into socialism and spending and taxing are imperiling the whole structure of the Republic.

"Expenditure upon expenditure, extravagance upon extravagance have so burdened our people with taxation and fed the forces of inflation, that our traditionally high standard of life has become largely fictitious and illusory," he said.

Widow Once Pronounced Dead and Sent To the Morgue Is Expected to Recover
San Francisco, Nov. 14—(P)—Flabbergasted physicians today predicted the complete recovery of Theresa Butler, 60-year-old widow pronounced dead and sent to the morgue six days ago.

Mrs. Butler abruptly came out of a five-day coma yesterday, talked coherently and recognized her daughter and Dr. J. C. Geiger, city-county public health director. "From all medical information now possible, Mrs. Butler will probably fully recover," Geiger said after consulting with attending physicians and the daughter, Betty Butler.

Last Thursday, a doctor pronounced Mrs. Butler dead, presumably from an overdose of sleeping pills. But at the morgue a startled attendant heard a gasp and saw her jaw twitch. She was rushed to a hospital.

Until yesterday doctors had feared Mrs. Butler's brain would be damaged from being without oxygen while she appeared to be lifeless. That would have left her just "a living vegetable," they said.

When pronounced dead, she had no perceptible reflexes, blood pressure, breathing or heartbeat—basic symptoms of death.

Dr. Thomas Albers, superintendent of San Francisco Hospital, described the case as the "most far-fetched and implausible" he has ever known.

The woman's recovery, he said, "just couldn't happen—but it has." Dr. Geiger said he personally is interested in learning if the administration of whole blood played a significant part in her recovery.

SUGGESTION IS REJECTED BY U.N. OFFICIALS

Munsan, Korea, Nov. 14—(P)—Communist negotiators challenged the Allies today to agree to a cease-fire line in Korea now or break off the truce talks.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, official U.N. spokesman, said the challenge was ignored in a writer of words that marked today's five hour and five minute armistice session.

He said the challenge was made by Chinese Maj. Gen. Hsieh Fang, member of the Red's two-man sub-committee.

Hsieh's words came during a wrangle over whether a military demarcation line and buffer zone shall be established now, as the Reds insist, or whether the question shall be postponed until other armistice questions are settled.

The Allies refuse to agree formally to a line now, because they say that would establish an immediate cease-fire. This, in turn, they say, would take military pressure off the Reds and enable them to stall on other armistice terms.

Hsieh called this "fantastic talk." "If that is the course you choose to follow," he said, "then why not stay away."

Nuckols released other quotations from the Red delegates to show: 1. They want to end the fighting now, in the air and on the sea as well as on the ground. A U.N. communique said this became "unmistakably clear."

2. The Reds say there will be no armistice unless the Allies agree to setting up a military demarcation line and buffer zone now.

3. The Reds conceded that once established, a military demarcation line should not be changed later.

Nuckols said the language of negotiators at today's meeting—the longest unbroken session they've yet held—was sharper than it has ever been. Another meeting was scheduled for tomorrow.

All of the discussion revolved around item two of the agenda, (Turn to Page Twelve)

WORKMAN KILLED
Uniontown, Nov. 14—(P)—A bulldozer killed William J. Weaver, 30, of Uniontown while he was working at nearby Leith yesterday. Fayette Fuel Co. officials said the machine started to slide as Weaver climbed onto the caterpillar tracks. The tracks pushed him under the arm of the machine's blade.

PUGILISTIC WIFE IS DIVORCED BY GYRENE
Pittsburgh, Nov. 14—(P)—An ex-Marine Lieutenant Colonel, whose bravery won him decorations from two foreign governments, was granted a divorce yesterday after testifying his wife delivered a punch that broke two ribs.

Taft Says U. S. Cannot Be Safe From War As Long As Truman Stays in Office
Harrisburg, Nov. 14—(P)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) declared last night that the United States cannot be safe from war as long as President Truman remains in office.

In a blunt, hard-hitting attack on American foreign policy, Taft described the Korean hostilities as a "Truman war."

"He (the president) usurped the power of congress to make that war," said the Ohio lawmaker. "It's a Truman war. He did it, I believe, without the slightest authority."

And in one brief mention of the Atlantic Pact and its provisions for sending several U.S. divisions to Europe, Taft caustically said: "The Atlantic Pact did not justify the sending of any troops to Europe."

Taft spoke at the closing dinner meeting of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women. He is the only candidate for the Republican nomination for president who has announced his aspirations to date.

The Ohio senator told newsmen upon his arrival here yesterday that he did not plan at this time to enter his name in Pennsylvania's presidential preference primary election April 22.

Taft's consent, however, is not needed in Pennsylvania.

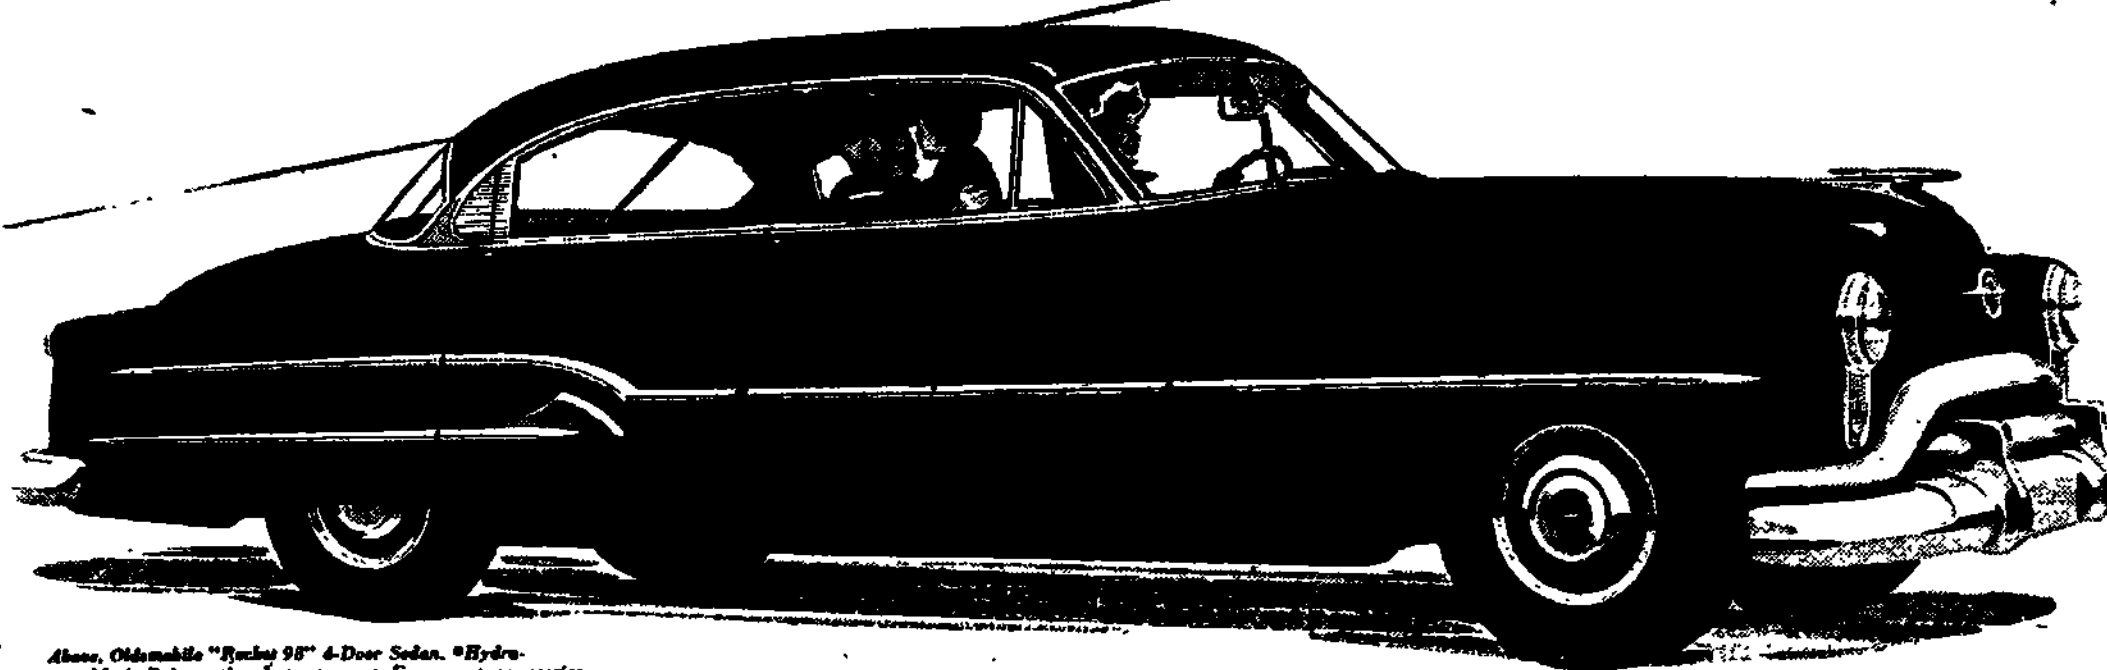

More than 95,000 U.S. casualties in Korea, Taft emphasized, could have been avoided if the occupation of South Korea had not been abandoned.

Taft lunched with Pennsylvania GOP leaders prior to his speech. They included M. Harvey Taylor, Republican state chairman; G. Mason Owlett, GOP national committeeman; Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.) and former Sen. Joseph R. Grundy. Gov. John S. Fine could not attend because of an attack of grippe.

CASUALTY LIST
Washington, Nov. 14—(P)—The defense department today identified 188 additional battle casualties in Korea. A new list (No. 441) reported 26 killed, 171 wounded, 39 missing in action and 10 injured in combat accidents.

Following dinner, the monthly business meeting of the company was conducted by President Norman Arnold, with cards occupying the remainder of the evening.

Several Changes Are Discovered In Canvass of Ballots

Several changes in total votes are reflected in the report of the official county election board, but none of the changes alters the final result in winners in last Tuesday's balloting.

The board, composed of Justice of the Peace Paul Leiby, Mrs. O. E. Loper and Joseph Anderson, with Irene Richwalski and Mrs. Evelyn Johnson assisting, started the canvass last Friday at noon and completed their work late in the same day.

Still leading the Republican ticket is Judge Allison D. Wade with 6552 votes. Sheriff L. E. Linder polled 5940, an increase of 11 over the unofficial totals in last Wednesday's Times-Mirror. His opponent, John Rodgers, Democrat, gained two votes in the official count, for a final total of 2103.

Prothonotary Ralph E. Sires picked up 45 votes on the Republican side, and 19 on the Democratic ticket to give him an official total of 7594 votes, the highest combined vote of any of the candidates.

In the race for county treasurer, Homer B. Bowersox, successful Republican candidate, gained four votes to a total of 5829 to 2481 for David Potter, his Democratic opponent.

Republican totals for county commissioner show George Seavy receiving 5460 votes, and L. L. Johnson 5264, an increase of 201 over the unofficial total for Mr. Johnson. William Olney, successful Democratic candidate for county commissioner, polled 2771 officially, the same total as reported last Wednesday. His opponent, Ralph Summerton, raised his total to 2153, an increase of five over the unofficial count.

Borough Teachers To Meet Nov. 28th

The program-planning committee of Warren Borough Teachers Association has secured Mrs. Clara Cockerille, Kittanning, assistant superintendent of Armstrong county schools, as guest speaker for an evening meeting to be held November 28, with county teachers invited to join the group.

Announcement of the plans were made at the regular meeting of the teacher group at the high school study hall at four o'clock Tuesday afternoon, when reports of standing committees were presented for consideration and recommendations of the executive council were approved.

President Edna Glasser, who will represent borough teachers at the Pennsylvania State Education Association convention in Harrisburg in December, was instructed concerning the vote on several items which affect all teachers.

To conclude the meeting, Miss Glasser gave a further report on the convention held in San Francisco this past summer, when emphasis was placed by speakers on the theme "United in Purpose—United in Action."

Car Inspection—major protection against winter-hazard traffic accidents

A leading factor in traffic safety at all times—Pennsylvania's twice-yearly, official car inspection makes certain your car is mechanically safe for winter driving. Of the 30 "danger spots" that are checked for good working condition in your car before you can receive the INSPECTION STICKER—28 will help you to meet winter traffic hazards safely. For instance:

VISIBILITY
All windows are checked for cracks and breaks. Mirror is checked for blemishes. Windshield wipers must work properly; all parts must be in good condition. The aim is perfect visibility—for the longer hours of darkness...for gray or foggy days...in rain, sleet or snow.

TRACTION AND STOPPING
So important on wet or icy roads to reduce the danger of skidding out of control. Steering and wheels are given seven different checks to make sure your car steers true. Tires are checked for condition of treads and casings.

SIGNAL DEVICES
Headlights focused correctly...horn working properly...all signal lights in good condition—so that you can be prepared to meet the increased demand that winter driving puts on the "eyes" and "voice" of your car.

CAR INSPECTION SAVES LIVES. THE NEW INSPECTION PERIOD STARTED ON NOVEMBER 1. YOU WILL NOT BE PERMITTED TO DRIVE YOUR CAR WITHOUT AN OFFICIAL INSPECTION STICKER AFTER JANUARY 31, 1952.

Increased Supply Of Gas Is Flowing To Western Penn'a

Pittsburgh—A Natural gas flow from fields on the eastern slopes of the Appalachian mountains is flowing to western Pennsylvania customers of Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. today for the first time in history.

The flow to homes, stores and industries began with the twist of a valve at Jeannette, Westmoreland county—present terminus of the firm's new 166-mile pipe line. The gas line, which will cost more than $11,000,000, starts near Renovo in north-central Pennsylvania and ultimately will end at nearby Canonsburg.

Irving K. Peck, vice president and general manager of the company, said the flow of gas through the Jeannette connection will run between 10 and 15 million cubic feet a day. By June, 1952, Peck said, 60 million cubic feet per day will pass through the pipe line.

The company executive said the increased gas supply to western Pennsylvania would enable the firm to keep pace with defense production demands. However, he added, the new supply will not be enough to permit lifting home-heating restrictions or eliminating curtailment of gas to industry in severe cold weather.

PRESIDENT GOES ON VACATION—Waving farewell as he boards his plane for a vacation trip to Key West, Fla., is President Truman. Just before leaving, the President told newsmen that there was "not a word of truth" in a New York City newspaper story saying he had offered to support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidency in 1952.

Unusual Act Secured for Phalanx Club Cavalcade of Mystery Benefit Program

A performance never before seen in Warren will be presented Saturday night, November 17th in the Woman's Club auditorium when the Phalanx Club presents a Cavalcade of Mystery for the benefit of its service work in the community.

The act referred to is called "Thirteen Minutes With the Spirits" and will be presented by Sherma, the magician, as one of the ten acts on the evening show. Sherma will reproduce the spooky manifestations of the seance room.

He will present the famous "Spirit Paintings", the "Floating Table", and the "Open Light Seance", all delightfully done for entertainment's sake. Sherma has never presented any of these effects in Warren before.

In the second part of the Saturday night show, Sherma returns to do the Chinese water bowls from nowhere, the appearing and vanishing bunny, the Chinese Checkers, the Flora Fantasy, the Human Sikkworm, and many other sense-debilitating illusions.

During the past 30 years, Sherma has given more than 2,500 programs in Pennsylvania and New York state and is the owner of more than $5000 worth of magical equipment.

He has had writeups in scores of newspapers and nationally distributed magazines, including Life, Readers Digest, Colliers, Pathfinder, and American Weekly.

In everyday life, Sherma is the Reverend Sherman Epler, pastor of First Methodist church in Kane and for seven years he was chaplain of the International Brotherhood of Magicians, the world's largest magical organization. The Magicians magazine, Genii, refers to him as one of the six outstanding magi-ministers in the world. Sherma's appearance Saturday night will be one of the highlights of the program which also includes the famous sand painter, Bob Kline, Phil Wein, ventriloquist, Alfieri the Magician, and others in a two hour performance.

An afternoon performance of the Cavalcade of Mystery will be given for children at 2:30 Saturday with seven performers on the bill.

WOMAN MISSING

State Police and city officers in northwestern Pennsylvania were requested via police teletype Sunday to be on the alert for Mrs. Betty Johnson of Titusville. Mrs. Johnson was reported missing by her husband, Wiley Johnson, after she had failed to return home from a grocery shopping trip Saturday.

NAMED TO OFFICE

At a recent meeting of the Lake Erie Library Association, held at Allegheny College, Meadville, the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Miss Marion Vosburg of Alliance College, Cambridge Springs; vice president, Mrs. Jeanne Barwis Lopez, Warren Public Library; secretary-treasurer, Miss Jeanette Bonnell of the Erie Public Library.

BURGLARY FOILED

A light-sleeping Johnsborg resident early Sunday broke up the attempted burglary of the W. and E. Sports Shop in that community. Kenneth Geer, who resides next door to the store, heard a disturbance at 2:30 a. m. and arming himself with a shotgun investigated. As he emerged from his home, Geer saw a man leave the sports store loaded with a variety of merchandise. He yelled first and then shot into the air, scaring off the burglar. Johnsborg police and state police from Ridgway, called to the scene, found the stolen goods lying near the railroad tracks to the rear of the pilfered shop.

ASSISTANCE ROLLS

In the last half of October, Pennsylvania's public assistance rolls completed their tenth full month of continuous decline since the beginning of the year. Figures released today by the Department of Public Assistance indicate that the decline in the second half of the month amounted to 1,862 persons. As a result of this latest decrease, the number of persons receiving public assistance throughout the state totaled 259,875 at the end of October. This was 74,480 less than were on the rolls at the beginning of the year, or a drop of 22.3 per cent in the 10-month period. In Erie county at the end of October there were 3,432 persons, making up 1.6 per cent of the county population, receiving aid.

U. N. FACES HARSH DILEMMA

For exactly one-fourth of a year we have been endeavoring to negotiate a truce with the Communists in Korea. In the annals of war, this must be close to a record. But it has not appeared to bring us much closer to the goal we seek—a real end to fighting.

At all times speculation has ranged the gamut, from the belief the Reds do indeed want a truce to the conviction that their council table game is nothing but another tactic in the war itself.

The weight of evidence leans toward support of those who feel the Communists would like to halt the conflict, or at least transfer it to the political arena. Their losses of men and materiel are well known. They have grudgingly loosened their grip on a fat slice of Red territory. The glum report of their failure has been read in every capital.

Today their enterprise in limited aggression does not stand high. It has not paid the hoped-for dividends. Worse, it is a burden and a handicap.

All this is beyond the realm of opinion. Yet there can be no proof that the Communist negotiators are honestly seeking truce. The dogged persistence with which they deflect the negotiations into side paths just when they seem headed for decisive progress is bound to stir doubts.

Lately correspondents have been refreshing our minds on the Reds' cynical use of the truce in their war against the Chinese Nationals. Time and again a truce was dangled invitingly in front of the Nationalists' eyes, but always the carrot turned out to be booby-trapped. The Communists simply seized the chance afforded by the lull to build up for another attack.

If this is really their purpose at Panmunjom, the supporting evidence is not so easy to discern. Our military leaders do report a build-up on the Communist side. But they are emphatic in declaring it insufficient to sustain an effective assault against our forces.

Perhaps the spring will see more fevered preparation for attack, though everything suggests such a purpose must necessarily hinge on more generous aid from Russia than the Chinese and North Koreans have yet had.

It could be, however, that winning all Korea by force of arms is no longer within the scope of Communist aims. Their present goals may be cheaper and easier of attainment—to keep the United States and its UN Allies deeply mired in the mud of indecisive battle.

Stalemate obviously can tie up our forces as thoroughly as smashing offensive warfare. And the Reds may always hope that time will destroy the patience of the American people, compelling us either to strike harder—in dangerous disregard of other vital fronts—or to settle on terms which might give the Communists politically what they could not gain by arms.

If you rule out the likelihood of a genuine truce, as many are doing, then our dilemma is a great one. Anyone who pretends otherwise is dodging reality. Conflict with Communists is like no other. Its shape is vague, its forms are many, its rules are new with each day. And possibly it is endless.

YOUR DIVVY TO UNCLE SAM

The average American will give the government 29 weeks' more pay out of his working life as a result of the higher federal taxes which took effect November first.

The Commerce Clearing House, a business and tax law analyzing agency, in Chicago, makes the estimate. It defines its average as 29 years old, married and the father of two, earning $4,300 a year.

Under the old tax structure, the Commerce Clearing House, says, he could expect to pay $34,743 in taxes during his working years. Under the new rates, he can add at least $2,420 for a total of $37,163 during his working life.

This "Average Man" will have $67.22 less spendable income a year as a result of the new taxes, the organization says.

If he works until he is 65, it added, he will pay in taxes a sum equal to his entire earnings for more than eight and a half years.

These tax figures include excise, real estate, state and local taxes as well as income taxes.

If Mr. Average Man got a raise, of course, that would throw the estimated figures off.

It would mean he'd have to pay more taxes.

Here And There

Ever since we read about the death of Claude Ritchey, former baseball great, who played in Warren over 56 years ago, we've been intending to go up in the attic and dig out the file for the summer of 1895 and look up some data about the diamond hero. Well, we finally got around to it and here are some facts that we discover in a quick glance through issues of the Warren Evening Mirror starting with May 7, 1895, which carries a story conveying the information that "it is possible that Warren will be represented in the Iron and Oil league which will include New Castle, Sharon, Oil City, Franklin, Titusville and Warren, if we will support a team here." It notes that "D. D. Reed made a full report of a league meeting, at the Armory Saturday night."

On Friday, May 10, there is an item telling about a meeting of the stockholders of the Warren team the previous evening when the following officers were elected: President, D. D. Reed, secretary, Frank W. Black, treasurer, W. F. Henry; directors, Eugene Mitchell, J. N. Craft, D. H. Higgins, Joseph S. Schofield, and H. W. Pickett.

On May 13 it was announced that Manager George England, of the Warren team, has signed the following players for the Iron and Oil League club: Border, Legge, Hewitt, Salmon, Patton, Richards, and Miller. "It was also stated," the item says, "that England has signed Ritchey, Al Wagner and Yulick, of the Steubenville team, that club having been transferred to Akron." And on May 14, it was noted that Manager England arrived in Warren the day before to take charge, bringing five players with him.

The first spring training game was played in Warren with Titusville as opponents, May 15, and the locals lost 19 to 9. The following day Warren defeated the Queen City team by a score of 9 to 6, and Titusville came back to trounce the Oilers 18 to 6 in a third game.

It was May 21, 1895, that Ritchey played his first game with Warren, holding down the shortstop position, in a game against Guy Hecker's Oil City nine, which was won by Warren by a score of 14 to 8. Ritchey had three hits and scored two runs. It was on May 28 of that year that we find Ritchey played third base in a game the day before which Warren lost to Franklin 18 to 14. McKeever was on short, and the following day the two players reversed positions, when Warren defeated Titusville 12 to 11.

It was on June 8th, when Warren defeated New Castle 26 to 9, that Wagner is listed as playing third base, with Ritchey at short stop. It is noted Warren was playing away from home most of the time until June 16, the Mirror reporting that "the team arrived home Sunday from what may be termed an unsuccessful trip."

"The first home game in the League was played in Warren June 17, 1895, when the locals defeated Sharon 9 to 8, with Ritchey still at shortstop and Wagner third base.

It was in a game played July 12, 1895, that names of both A. Wagner and J. Wagner appear in the lineup, along with Ritchey, who was still holding down the shortstop position. Al Wagner was at third and J. Honus in right field. Warren started off "great guns" in the second half of the league season and by August 9 was leading the standings with .778 percentage points, and Oil City second with .667.

The September 6 issue carries an article telling about Warren losing the sixth game of the series of seven at Wheeling, W. Va., for the second series championship, giving the West Virginians the title.

And finally, Ralph C. Davis, 201 Pennsylvania avenue, west, custodian at the Warren Public Library, tells us that he remembers playing with Ritchey, on a Youngsville team, when Ritchey first came to this section and was recuperating from illness at a rest home in that section of the county.

Italian Armed Forces Buildup Presents Key NATO Problem

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

ROME—(NEA)—Rebuilding Italy's armed forces presents one of the most serious problems of the entire North Atlantic community. "They are poorly equipped and they have a long way to go before reaching the standards we require," says U. S. Admiral Richard B. Carney, commander-in-chief, Allied forces, Southern Europe.

Admiral Carney is, however, hopeful. Italian manpower has been untapped. Economic surveys have indicated there is nothing the Italians can't make. Their technical skill is exceeded in Europe only by the Germans. The Italians have the spirit and the willingness to do what is asked of them. The American aid program will help some. But mostly it is a problem for the Italians themselves.

U. S. congressmen, members of a House Military Affairs sub-committee who have been touring Europe, report that the Alpine troops on Italy's northern border look excellent. A big new U. S. supply base is being built in the Leghorn area, and a new supply line for Austria is being established across northern Italy. Italian industry in the Turin-Milan area is humming. Italian agriculture in the fertile Po valley is producing at record highs.

Farther south, however, the picture is not so good. Unemployment is around the two million mark and there are another two million only partially employed.

BEFORE the war, Italy had 60 divisions. General Edzio Marras, Italian chief of staff, maintains that Italy's 12 divisions of today have more fire power than 70 pre-war divisions.

A demonstration for American newspapermen arranged at Italy's Infantry Officers' Training School at Cesano, near Rome, showed fundamental weaknesses even in the training stage. The school had just received Browning light automatics.

At a rudimentary platoon field exercise, with live ammunition, the student officers stood on the sidelines and heard a lecture while a demonstration team went through the maneuver. At an equivalent U. S. officers' training school, the lieutenants and captains themselves would have been put through the exercise in the mud, to gain the experience the hard way. Overcoming the old Italian Army officer caste system is proving difficult.

The peace treaty limited Italy to an army of 250,000 men, a Navy of 25,000 men, an Air Force of 25,000 men. No limitations were put on plans, however, so Italy is planning to increase her forces just as soon as the treaty limitations can be set aside.

No treaty limits were placed on light tanks, radar, bazookas and anti-aircraft guns and other specialized weapons, so there is a more rapid build-up of equipment than manpower in these categories. Italy's Air Force was completely destroyed in the war. By treaty it was limited to 200 fighters and 50 of all other types, excluding bombers. The U. S. made an initial contribution of 100 F-51's, with a year's spare parts. The Italian Air Force staff and supply systems have been reorganized on U. S. standards.

When Italian crews flew 16 Vampires to the European army maneuvers last month, and they came back across the Alps without loss, it was considered something of an accomplishment. Italian pilots are now being trained for F-84 jet operations, and the present plans call for building up the Air Force beyond treaty limitations. The Air Force could be expanded to 80,000 or 100,000 men on short order.

The Italian Navy, limited by treaty to 67,500 tons, has been built around three cruisers and three destroyers. No limitation was placed on auxiliary vessels, so expansion of the Navy has been begun here.

With an excellent reserve system in effect, the Italian Navy can be expanded to 150,000 men as soon as the treaty limitations are removed.

Catholic Daughters Looking Forward To Birthday Party on November 28th

Members of Court Warren No. 834, Catholic Daughters of America, are looking forward to the unit's annual birthday party to be held at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, November 28, in the YWCA activities building.

Mrs. Ralph Pasquino is chairman for the affair and reservations must be made with her no later than Saturday, November 24.

Miss Frances Maher, Kane, supreme regent of the order and only recently returned from Rome, plans to attend the birthday party and will have, no doubt, many topics of interest to all who attend.

Final arrangements for the event were worked out at the regular meeting of the court, held in the YWCA and conducted by the grand regent, Mrs. F. J. Kotmair. Mrs. Anthony Lucia won the attendance prize for the evening.

Following the business session, cards were enjoyed and refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. Gerald Lindberg, Mrs. Rose Albright and Mrs. Paul Gray.

More than 150 members and guests of the court were present for initiation ceremonies held recently in St. Joseph's Hall, Mrs. Kotmair and her staff of officers in charge of the degree work.

Nineteen new members were received into Warren Court and one was reinstated as follows: Mrs. Marion Abraham, Mrs. Kathryn Allinger, Mrs. Rose Bonavita, Mrs. Josephine Briggs, Mrs. Helen Bunk, Mrs. Nancy Daye, Mrs. Ruth Gerardi, Mrs. Isabelle Gorfida, Mrs. Mary Green, Mrs. Elizabeth Kallina, Mrs. Mary Lehman, Mrs. Angeline Natale, Miss Mildred Nodzak, Mrs. Geneva Pastrick, Mrs. Gertrude Ruhlman, Mrs. Agnes Shaffer, Miss Esther Snyder, Mrs. Ruth Strassbaugh, Mrs. Mary Teconchuk, and Mrs. Bernice Harrington, reinstated.

Following the reception of new members, the traditional memorial candlelight service for deceased members took place, the court choir singing "Peace Be Still" with accompaniment by Mrs. Marie McGarry.

Guests were Father M. E. Dailley, chaplain; Father William J. Maloney, Warren; Miss Anna B. Fleming, district deputy from Kane; and members of courts in Kane and Sheffield.

Following the initiation and business session, a tea was held to honor the new members. The committee in charge of the affair was capably handled by Mrs. Claude Miller, Mrs. Frank Peters, Mrs. Willis Cooney and Miss Eleanor Harrington, co-chairmen.

MOTHERS STUDY CLUB
HEARS STORY OF TOYS
Young Mothers Study Club members held their November meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Blackman, Pleasant township. During the business session, resignations were accepted and new members elected to the club.

A very interesting program was presented in the form of a lecture, "The Story of Holgate Toys," given by Mrs. Maxwell Rhodes, Youngville. Interesting facts concerning the history of the Holgate Company showed that it was founded as far back as 1780 and its present location in Kane came about because of the recession of the forests.

Toys presented for illustration of Holgate products and to demonstrate their educational value to the pre-school child met with the approval of the mothers in attendance. Although the program was not given as a commercial project, few of the toys were left to be returned to the company and nearly every mother went home with one for her child's Christmas enjoyment.

Co-hostesses for this month were Mrs. John Newmaker and Mrs. Martha Wilson.

A reception was held during the evening hours at Ab's Place, with dinner served from a table beautifully decorated in pale green and centered with an arrangement of yellow and white mums.

About 40 guests were present to remember the couple with many lovely gifts.

Kubecki - Spencer Rites Announced

Virginia Storer Spencer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Storer, and Joseph Kubecki, son of Casper Kubecki and the late Mrs. Frances Kubecki, of Pittsfield, were united in marriage Saturday, November 3, by Dr. D. W. Prout.

Mary Wright, Albion, sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's only attendant and Charles Kubecki, Washington, D. C., was the best man.

A reception was held during the evening hours at Ab's Place, with dinner served from a table beautifully decorated in pale green and centered with an arrangement of yellow and white mums.

About 40 guests were present to remember the couple with many lovely gifts.

Irvine Neighborhood Club Plans Activities

The Irvine Girl Scout Neighborhood Club held its regular meeting at the Irvine school, with eight members and the district chairman, Mrs. Paul Getts of Youngville, in attendance.

Plans were made to take both the Scouts and Brownies to the Walker Creamery Products Company plant in Warren on November 23. Reports were given by Scout and Brownie leaders on activities of their groups and it was voted to give some financial assistance to both units.

Attention was called to the next meeting, to be held at the school on January 14, with Mrs. Doris Wilson and Mrs. Fay Nicklas as hostesses.

Following the meeting, a nice lunch was served by Miss Edith York and Mrs. Grace Oviatt, hostesses.

Older People Need Recreation Programs as Much as Others

OUR town's recreation department, following the lead of a number of other cities, has just organized a social program for men and women of fifty and over.

It's high time we started looking after the needs of this age group. We have all kinds of activities for our young children, teen-age canteens for the high school crowd, and almost more activities for the young married set than they can crowd into their busy, active lives.

But the social life of past-middle-age men and women has long been ignored. Everybody has expected them to look after themselves. Yet they are the age group that really needs a helping hand. Many of them are having to readjust their lives, either because children are grown and scattered, or because the man has retired or finds himself moving down the success ladder instead of holding his highest perch on it, or because of the illness of either husband or wife.

Then, too, there are many widows and widowers in this age group who no longer know quite what to do for social life and recreation since they have become single members of society instead of half of a team.

OLDER FOLKS NEED NEW INTERESTS

THEY are the group that has the leisure time and really need some kind of organized social life, where they can make new friends, enjoy social evenings, and learn new hobbies.

The world is full of lonely older people who need to have new worlds opened up for them. Any community that has no plans in its recreation program for its older citizens is neglecting an important duty.

What does your community have to offer its past-fifty residents? (All rights reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

Robley Sawyer, Albany, N. Y., was best man; Albert Cottriss, Medina, ushered.

Home Street Girl Scout Club Looks to the Future

Fifteen members of the Home Street Girl Scout Neighborhood Club were entertained for the November meeting at the home of Mrs. Clifford Branch, 1100 Conewango avenue, with Mrs. Myron Check as guest hostess.

The business session was under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Barr, neighborhood chairman, who presided over the meeting. The program which is to be filled by the girls was to be displayed in December in the J. C. Penney company store. She also reminded the girls to prepare for the Craft exhibit in March.

Mrs. Ralph Van Ord announced the sale of salted nuts will be held this year by Troop 57 only and any other troop wishing to sell should contact Mrs. A. E. Underhill, 1616 Pennsylvania avenue, east, and place their orders through her troop.

Members were urged to attend the meeting of the Leaders Association, to be held in the Presbyterian church Tuesday evening, November 27.

Mrs. Anthony Weller gave an interesting talk on balanced programs for all troop meetings and offered worthwhile suggestions for service, nature study and camping. Following a general discussion of these phases of Scouting, delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Mrs. Van Ord will entertain the January meeting at her home, with Mrs. Weller and Mrs. Fred Abenroth assisting.

Teachers Entertained At Book Week Opening

National Book Week for 1951, with the slogan "New Horizons With Books," was inaugurated with a tea for local teachers in the children's room of Warren Public Library.

Miss Teresa Marie Fino, children's librarian, assisted by Miss Faith Mong and Miss Ann Dalrymple, was in charge of arrangements for the displays and the refreshments.

An air of mystery was given the proceedings when Mary Louise Rogers, dressed as a rabbit, appeared among the group to distribute Book Week leaflets. Attempts to identify her added fun to the party.

Miss Margaret Corbin and Miss Georgia Spinnery poured. The tea table was centered with a pirate ship, decorated with white chrysanthemums, and indicated the theme of the book game which begins this week.

Any grade school child who would like to enter the game can become a "pirate" and search for the hidden treasure by coming to the public library and joining in the contest.

The teachers enjoyed the opportunity to see the new books before they go into circulation. Special displays of books on travel, hobbies, fantasy, geography, and other subjects have been arranged and will be on exhibit for the rest of the week.

New books in the young people's, the rental and the memorial collections are also on display at this time.

Announcements Made By Frewsburg Bridge Club

The Frewsburg Duplicate Bridge Club announces it will have no weekly sessions on November 16 and 23rd because of the Olympic Games being held at the Jamestown Bridge Center on those dates.

It is indicated, however, all bridge players are welcome to participate in the Jamestown two-session game and may make reservations with Mrs. Conrad Nelson in that city.

The Frewsburg Club is still taking reservations for its Team of Two game to be held December 7 in the Frewsburg IOOF hall, starting at 8:00 p. m., with trophies to be awarded to the high pair. Reservations must be in no later than December 1 and may be made by calling Frewsburg 2231.

Club members will resume their regular play November 30 and the public is welcome to these sessions as well as to the Team of Two event.

In last Friday's weekly game, a five-table Howell game was enjoyed. Average was 35 and prizes were awarded in the following order: Mrs. Harry Hendrickson and Al Wroth, 45; Mrs. E. N. Jinks and Mrs. G. Lindberg, 39½; Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Newberry and Vida Benson paired with Reno Anderson, tied for third place with 37; Mr. and Mrs. W. Holmes had 38.

OUR COUNTY UNITS, AND I WISH TO COMPLEMENT THIS CLUB FOR STANDING

solidly behind the program. No other club in the state has been in the program longer and no other club is more active.

Mayme Marsh, Louise Neely, Dr. and Mrs. Urbaitis attended the state meeting at Bedford Springs, representing the local unit, and Dr. Urbaitis reported the meeting as most successful.

A nominating committee composed of Viola Flowers, chairman, Maybelle Baisrow and Mayme Marsh submitted a slate of officers for the unit for 1952. Unanimously elected were the following: Dr. John C. Urbaitis, assistant superintendent of Warren State Hospital, president; Dr. Albert D. Eberly, vice president; Olive Phillips, secretary; A. L. Rasmussen, treasurer; and Dorothy Baker, county captain.

Dr. Urbaitis reported consistent activity in the Unit throughout the past year, and said the two expensive items of equipment promised to Warren General Hospital some time ago for preparing and projecting slides have finally been delivered, piece by piece, and are now in use by the staff. Preparation of dressings for the loan closet and the advertising of the availability of the loan closet were commended. Dr. Urbaitis said the motion picture activity of the unit has been successful.

"In five years you have shown remarkable progress and the state organization is proud of you," said Mrs. Miller. "We of the state organization are only as strong as our county units, and I wish to complement this club for standing solidly behind the program. No other club in the state has been in the program longer and no other club is more active.

Elizabeth Brasington, president of the B. P. W. Club, opened the meeting last night and the invocation was sung by Margaret Drivas, piano accompaniment by Lloyd Van Tassel. Mrs. Drivas also led the club in a number of songs. The table was most attractive with its fruit centerpieces, miniature turkeys and pumpkins, and colorful candles.

Following the business session devoted to the work of the unit, the club held its regular meeting at which time plans were made for the Christmas party in December at which time there will be a gift exchange. Miss Jane Cannon, Y. W. C. A. secretary, was voted into club membership.

The members of the club's education and vocations committee, Alice Forbes, chairman; Katherine Bauer, Inez Leake and Eunice

Another New Advance in Handling Of Automatic Power Transmission Coming

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

Detroit, Nov. 14.—Another significant mechanical advance will be disclosed in some of the forthcoming new model passenger automobiles.

Power steering and power braking for passenger automobiles were introduced in some 1951 model cars. They will appear in others to be brought out in the next couple of months.

The newest advance has to do with the handling of automatic power transmissions. Specific details are being withheld pending formal introduction of new cars equipped with it. It can be said, however, that the device is designed to provide maximum performance in highway cruising or city traffic, acceleration and mountain driving.

This is a dual range performance long sought by automotive engineers. The device is not an overdrive, but is built into the automatic transmission. One engineer has described solution of the problem of providing for two distinct sets of driving conditions with maximum performance in each as "so simple even the layman will wonder why it was not done before."

Development of the new engineering feature is said to have led to other gains, including better all-around car performance, greater fuel economy and improved safety.

The procession of 1952 model passenger cars will continue into next March, under present planning. Most of them, however, will be out by February 1.

The car makers always try to withhold details of their new models until they are ready to show them on dealers' floors. They haven't been as successful in this effort in recent years as they were before World War II. To some extent this may be due to the increasing number of supplier sources that are needed to get a new model into production.

Packard, which announced its 1952 models a couple of weeks ago, was only partly successful in withholding its power braking system. It is known, too, that Ford plans new bodies and new engines for its forthcoming new cars.

It is fairly well accepted in industry quarters that power steering will be made available on Cadillac and the top Buick and Oldsmobile models for 1952. There has been no company confirmation of this planning but it is known General Motors has been working for more than a year on its own version of a power steering unit for passenger cars.

Trade sources also expect much more sensitive braking systems to be announced by more of the car companies within the next few weeks.

Along with improved transmission, power steering, tinted glass, higher compression and increased engine power, the newer braking systems are among the most significant engineering advances in passenger car design during the last decade.

Numerous other engineering advances are in the making for future model cars. The restrictions of the defense program probably will delay introduction of many of them for another couple of years or so.

Chrysler, for example, has an electro-magnetic automatic transmission for passenger cars, a new electric seat adjuster, electrically operated window lift and some new hydraulic engine tappets. All these are in the development stage.

Their development, however, has progressed sufficiently to class most of them as distinct possibilities for future installation in passenger automobiles.

Notes From Farm Extension Office

Fall brooded chicks grow into colder weather, and require careful attention as to temperature and ventilation. But, Assistant County Agent, Paul Hoke, reminds, heat requirements become less as they develop a protective covering of flesh and feathers. Give chicks the amount of heat they need, but no more. Costs are conserved if heat can be discontinued at an early age, 8 to 10 weeks or sooner.

Weather frequently gets the blame for low vegetable crop yields when the guilt should be laid to one or more other factors, says Assistant County Agent, Paul Hoke. More often low yields result from plant food deficiency.

To the farmer who understands their language, vegetable crops tell which minerals are lacking. A good example is sweet corn. The leaves turn yellow along the midrib, shrivel and fire when the corn is hungry for nitrogen. If the corn is phosphorous starved, the young plants often have a purplish cast, and the tips may die. If it is potassium starved, the leaves turn brown along the margins.

The way to get good vegetable crop yields, as Mr. Hoke, explains, is to plant adapted seed in adapted soils, plant at the proper rate, fertilize adequately, control weeds, and practice crop rotation. If the yields are then low—maybe it was the weather.

In liming for vegetable crops aim to have the soil pH about 6.5 with a medium to high calcium level, advises Assistant County Agent, Paul Hoke.

"Better have a soil test made every 4 to 5 years," he suggests. Eliminate guesswork. Unnecessary liming wastes money. In highly excessive amounts it may make certain minerals unavailable, especially manganese and iron. When a vegetable crop sensitive to lime is to be planted, and the soil is exceedingly acid, make a fall application of lime and another when preparing the soil the next spring.

Dolores Is the Latest Barrymore To Enter the Field of Stage and Screen

By BOB THOMAS
Hollywood, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The Barrymore clan is adding another member to its acting dynasty—beautiful, brunette Dolores, who is willing to work her way up from the ranks.

If you're interested in family trees, you should know that Dolores is the daughter of Dolores Costello and John Barrymore, the nieces of Ethel and Lionel, the sister of John, Jr., and the half-sister of Diana. She is also the wife of Thomas Fairbanks, student and part-time aircraft worker, and the mother of Hilary, aged one.

Until recently, her sole occupation was being a housewife at her modest Hollywood apartment. But then the Barrymore blood began to prevail.

"I have never thought about being an actress," said Dolores, who is 21. "I have never acted in my life, although I have taken drama in school. But my brother John has been after me for two years to give it a try, and I decided it might be worth the chance."

"Even though I have never acted, I think it comes naturally to me because I have always liked to pretend. And I have always enjoyed keeping busy with a variety of interests. Now that the baby is a year old and I have learned to do housework—I literally couldn't boil an egg when I was married—I find I have too much time on my hands. I thought of doing model work, but I think acting will be more stimulating."

"I'm willing to take any role to keep busy. Naturally I wouldn't be sorry if stardom would come. But my acting would never be more important than my home life. I think the happiest people in Hollywood are those who have successfully combined their careers and marriage."

Dolores said her family was delighted with her decision, especially her mother, "who always wanted me to be an actress." She also received the approval of her aunt Ethel, who acts as coach and guide to younger members of the family.

The budding actress has hired herself an agent and has had several promising interviews at studios. She even tried to acquire a new name for her billing. She wanted to call herself Blythe Barrymore, the first handle coming from the real family name, Blythe. But her agent vetoed that and she'll be known professionally as Dolores Barrymore. (Actually, she has been called Dede all her life.)

Dolores, a vivacious girl who is three years older than John, Jr., remembers little of her famed father. She has seen him only once on the screen and then in a cheap comedy made "in the days when he wasn't himself."

"I remember a few things from when I was four or five years old," she recalled. "I remember his lying on the floor and showing me how to dress myself and how he used to tell me about the elves that lived in the basement of our house. And I remember how he used to keep a razor strap, supposedly discipline me with. But whenever I did something wrong, he would take me in the library and hit chair with it, while I yelled."

Dolores has closely followed the career of her brother John and without a critical eye. She feels she should avoid hunted characters and do some lighter roles. "John is a pizze, a comedian," she said.

Salamanca Driver Bruised in Crash

Doris W. Jimerson, Salamanca RD 1, sustained bruise about the head and body, and her car, a 1941 Chevrolet, was demolished when it struck the rear of a large truck-trailer and rolled over twice on Route 6 near Saybrook about 3 p. m. yesterday. She was treated at the office of a Sheffield physician and discharged.

State police, who investigated the accident, said the Jimerson car was following a large truck operated by George W. Irwin, of Sheffield, both headed east. She attempted to pass the truck and was met by opposing traffic.

Upon applying brakes and attempting to get back into line, Miss Jimerson lost control of her car, struck the rear of the truck, careened off into the ditch and rolled over.

She was charged before Justice the Peace J. C. Keller with driving too fast for conditions, to which she pleaded guilty and paid a fine and costs, state police said.

Pennsy Withdraws Abandonment Plan

A Harrisburg dispatch to the Times-Mirror says the Pennsylvania Railroad has been authorized to withdraw its application for abandonment of passenger service between Corry and Oil City.

The railroad's petition was approved yesterday by the Public Utility Commission. It gave no reason for the withdrawal.

The PRR had sought to discontinue one daily and evening train between the two communities. The trains were listed as numbers 980 and 981.

Several communities opposed abandonment of the trains, including Titusville, Rouseville, Sparrowsburg and Centerville. The PUC said some opposition also was voiced in Oil City and Erie.

Election Held By Township Officers

Members of the Warren County Association of Township Officers concluded their annual one-day session in the YWCA auditorium, Tuesday afternoon, when the 1951 officers of the association were elected as follows: Frank C. Hall of Corydon township, president; E. E. Jones of Pittsfield, vice president; and M. L. Wilcox of Kinzua, secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Jones and John Carr of Youngville were named delegates to the state convention with Harry Bergstrom of Lander as alternate.

About 90 were in attendance at the convention. While the association was originally for township supervisors it now includes all township assessors, tax collectors and auditors in Warren county.

Suggestion Is Rejected By U. N. Officials

involving the military demarcation line and buffer zone.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckolls, spokesman for the U. N. command, said the Reds conceded they contemplated no changes once a cease-fire line is established. Their proposal calls for alterations at the time an armistice is reached if there have been substantial changes in the battle line. Nuckolls said the Communist negotiators conceded this was meaningless.

This is precisely what the U. N. command said it feared. It has said repeatedly that fixing a buffer zone now, as the Communists propose, would mean an immediate cease-fire and an end to all shooting, relieving the Reds of pressure to agree on other armistice terms.

The Allies say acceptance of the Red demand would mean an end to hopes for a truce settlement.

increased talk among some Republicans today of his possibilities as a 1952 presidential candidate.

But Senator Brickner, a backer of his Ohio senate colleague, Robert A. Taft, told reporters at the GOP national convention "was held tomorrow Bob Taft would be the nominee." Taft is the only announced candidate.

Backers of a third possible candidate, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, said meanwhile they are setting up national and state organizations to conduct a campaign to obtain the Republican nomination for him. The announcement was made by Senator Duff (R-Pa.) and former Senator Harry Darby of Kansas, who said details will be published shortly. Both contend Eisenhower is a Republican and will be available. The general has not committed himself on either point.

TEACHERS TESTIFY IN BROOKVILLE TRIAL

Brookville, Nov. 14—(P)—Three school teachers said Donald Leroy Smith, 16, on trial for murder, has an above average IQ but rated poor in cooperation and habits while in school.

The state charges Smith fatally shot Otto McConnell, Jefferson county farmer, last April, then stole a truck and money. The prosecution has asked for a first degree murder verdict and the death penalty.

The teachers were called to the witness stand by the defense in an effort to prove the youth legally insane.

Jail mates of the boy also were called. They told the jury that while in jail they and Smith are unable to carry on a conversation.

STRIKE AT ERIE G. E. PLANT IS SHORT ONE

Erie, Nov. 14—P—The Erie works of General Electric Company resumed normal operations today following a 10-hour strike of 500 refrigerator plant workers.

A shop steward said the strike started after piece work rates were cut as much as 50 per cent. The strike did not spread to other parts of the GE plant, which employs 14,000.

A spokesman for Local 506, United Electrical Workers (Independent) said the workers called off the strike after management made concessions on piece work rates.

Forest Extension Association Names Officers for Year

A talk on the social and economic life of Western Germany in relation to her poultry industry featured the program of the thirty-second annual meeting of the Forest County Agricultural Extension Association on Thursday evening at Tionesta.

Officers elected for the ensuing year are J. G. Jamieson, president; Frank Watson, vice president; Mrs. John Handy, secretary; and John King, treasurer.

At the town-country people's dinner in the Presbyterian Church dining room, Rev. E. W. McKee gave the invocation and led group singing.

Local color pictures were shown by Pauline Hoke and Russell M. Smith, county extension representatives.

A male quartet consisting of Forrest Byers, Jr., J. A. Foreman, E. M. McKee, and J. L. Wick, with Mrs. Fred C. Jaun as accompanist, sang "I've Been Working on the Railroad," and "Vive L'Amour."

Agricultural and home economics extension activities were reported by a panel consisting of John King, Mrs. E. M. Thurnquist, Everett Wagner, Mrs. Marian Carlinger, and Bea Jane Allio.

The program concluded with an address, "Traveling Through Western Germany to Study Her Poultry Industry," by Harry Kauffman, in charge of poultry extension in Pennsylvania. Kauffman was assigned to the German government for his work in that country during a period of over four months.

In a ten-week period Kauffman visited one hundred seventy-five farms in making the poultry survey. He said that although southern Germany is due east of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, her climate is tempered by warm winds from the Atlantic ocean. Adequate rainfall during the growing season makes Germany a natural grass country. Poultry flocks are small and depend on grass for some of their feed requirements.

Kauffman also reviewed many of the social, educational, and economic factors which influence the poultry industry of Germany. His talk was concluded with a series of color slides illustrating several of his points.

FINE ILL, MEETING WITH G.O.P. DELAYED

Harrisburg, Nov. 14—P—Gov. John S. Fine's illness raised a possibility today that a conference with top Republican legislative leaders may be called off.

The governor has been confined to the "Stone House" mansion at nearby Indianopolis Gap with a heavy cold for several days.

The conference, to discuss re-appointing the state's 33 congressional districts and the tax deadlock, originally had been called for this morning but later was put off until this afternoon.

The governor's office said that Fine was expected to remain at the Gap all day. A telephone call there brought the information that Fine was still in bed, under a physician's care.

MANY G. I. LEAVES

Washington, Nov. 14—P—As many soldiers as can be spared from duty at posts in this country will be given leave during a ten-day break in training over the Christmas holiday, the Army said last night.

The announcement was made simultaneously here and in mess halls at camps throughout the country. The other services have not announced their plans.

Announcing the training break from December 22 to January 2, the Army said camp commanding officers will determine how many of their men can be given leave, possibly on a staggered basis.

Any leave, the Army added, is contingent upon the international situation at the time.

RUSSELL

Russell, Nov. 14—The Wiltsie Ladies Aid was entertained at the home of Mrs. William Sturdevant and work was done on a quilt. The hostess served lunch. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Virgil Williams with Mrs. Ella Williams assisting hostess. At the Halloween social held at the Wiltsie school, Dorothy Van Orman and John Carlson received the quilts given as prizes.

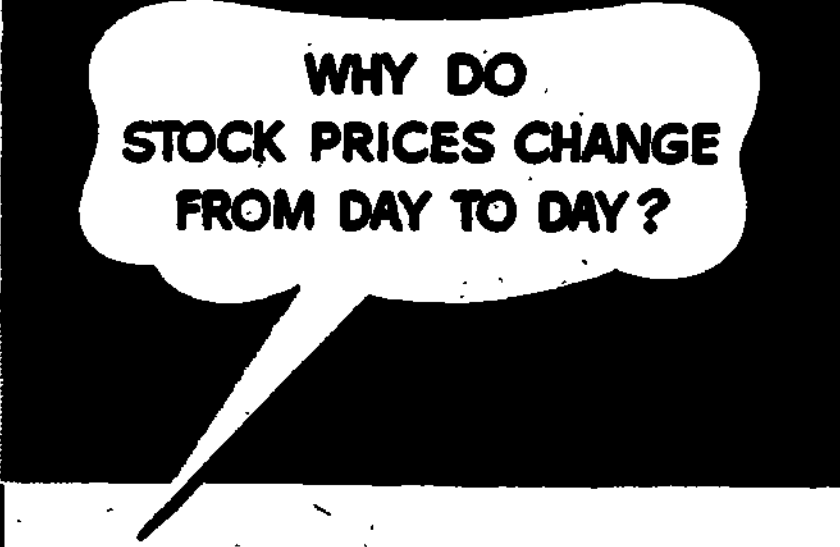

The Friendship club met Friday at the home of Mrs. Richard Enos with seven members and one guest present. A tureen dinner was served at 1:00 o'clock and a social time followed. Mrs. Mary Wall will entertain the club November 23.

Miss Irene Gregory, accompanied by Mrs. Belle Putnam of Warren, left Thursday for Orlando, Fla., to spend the winter.

WHY DO STOCK PRICES CHANGE FROM DAY TO DAY?

The answer is simple but important, especially if you are a new investor or thinking of becoming one—because, when you know why stock prices change from day to day, you are better equipped to relate those changes to the real investment value of a stock.

Remember, first of all, that the price of a stock at any moment is simply the value put upon that stock by the people who are buying and selling it. The price changes in accordance with the basic law of supply and demand. If the demand for a stock is greater than the supply, the price will probably go up. If the supply is greater than the demand, the price usually goes down.

The decision of an investor to buy or sell a stock reflects his opinion of its value in relation to his own investment needs and his current financial position. His "opinion" is affected by almost everything that affects human beings... the state of his health, what he reads and hears about the company, business trends, taxes, international affairs.

Day to day changes in the price of any stock, therefore, are only a partial index of its value to you. For sound judgment you need all the information you can get about the company and its prospects. Such information is available to you through member firms of the New York Stock Exchange. They will be glad to answer your questions without charge.

BROUGHT DOWN—Smith (77) of the Los Angeles Rams is being brought down to earth after running the ball down to the 49ers' two-foot line during a game in Los Angeles between the 49ers and the Rams. Shown bringing him down are 49ers Henke (47) and Wisman (22), while Rams' Towler (32) looks helplessly on, left. The game ended with 23 for the Rams, 16 for the 49ers

KEEPING HER OAR IN—Sixteen-year-old Sonya Klopfer of Queens, N.Y., is shown practicing for the Olympic tryouts to be held in Indianapolis in December. Sonya is the senior singles skating champion of the U.S. and North America, and she's doing all this work in an effort to retain her title.

HAPPY ON LAND—Alice Hartman, 15, Far Rockaway, N.Y., and her collie, Jock, spent a night adrift in a rowboat in Jamaica Bay with a school chum of Alice. The girls hired the boat, then lost an oar and couldn't maneuver it. They snuggled up to Jock to keep warm until they were washed up on shore the next morning. It had not been a successful outing for anyone.

WAITING IN THE RAIN—A steady rainfall in Rome, Italy, doesn't keep the horse-drawn cabbies from hoping. As they wait at various places throughout the city for tourists whose sightseeing isn't curtailed by the weather, they huddle under large black umbrellas and keep dry.

TEMPORARILY OUT OF WORK—Five Chinese Communist soldiers were guarding a roadblock somewhere in Korea when some UN forces happened upon them. Now, those same five are unemployed, taking their ease behind barbed wire protection at an advance POW camp, before being shipped farther south. The young fellow in the center is just 16 years old.

UNUSUAL WEATHER—Although San Francisco isn't always balmy at this time of year, Peter Renteria, five, and Jane Kimbrough, four, are still able to frolic on a local beach. The weather is somewhat warmer than in the East right now.

IT'S THE CIDER SEASON

GETTING IT READY—The most popular beverage at this time of the year is apple cider. In these photos, George Pavlik and his family, in Waukegan, Ill., demonstrate how they make sweet cider in their 100-ton press. Below, left, apples fresh from the harvest are ready for pressing. With the trays filled and ready, George Pavlik swings them on a dolly to the pressing section, right. After the apples are pressed, the liquid flows through a hose into barrels.

GOOD TO THE TASTE!—The average consumption of cider in the United States is about one quart per capita. Each bushel of apples yields almost three and a half gallons of the beverage and the fragrance of the mellow fruit fills the air as the throbbing presses notify passers-by that it's being made. Mrs. Pavlik, above, tests the sweet, fresh result of the family's seasonal labor which is now ready for the market.

YOUNG COWGIRL—At four years of age, little Carolyn West of Burlington, Wis., is a genuine cowgirl. Since August, Carolyn has been herding the 14 dairy cows on the family farm almost daily with her Shetland pony, Sugar. The tot drives the cows to and from the pasture and keeps them out of the corn while they're grazing. Above, she practices an old rodeo stunt, simulated calf roping with her pony. Below, Carolyn and Sugar show how they do it.

LITTLE LEARNING IS DANGEROUS THING

A little learning is a dangerous thing as in anything else. The other day I saw a couple of good players butcher a defense in a way that simply wouldn't occur to average players. West opened the king of dia-

Oswald Jacoby, a well-known bridge player, has written this column. He is a very proper player and has written this column for the NEA Service.

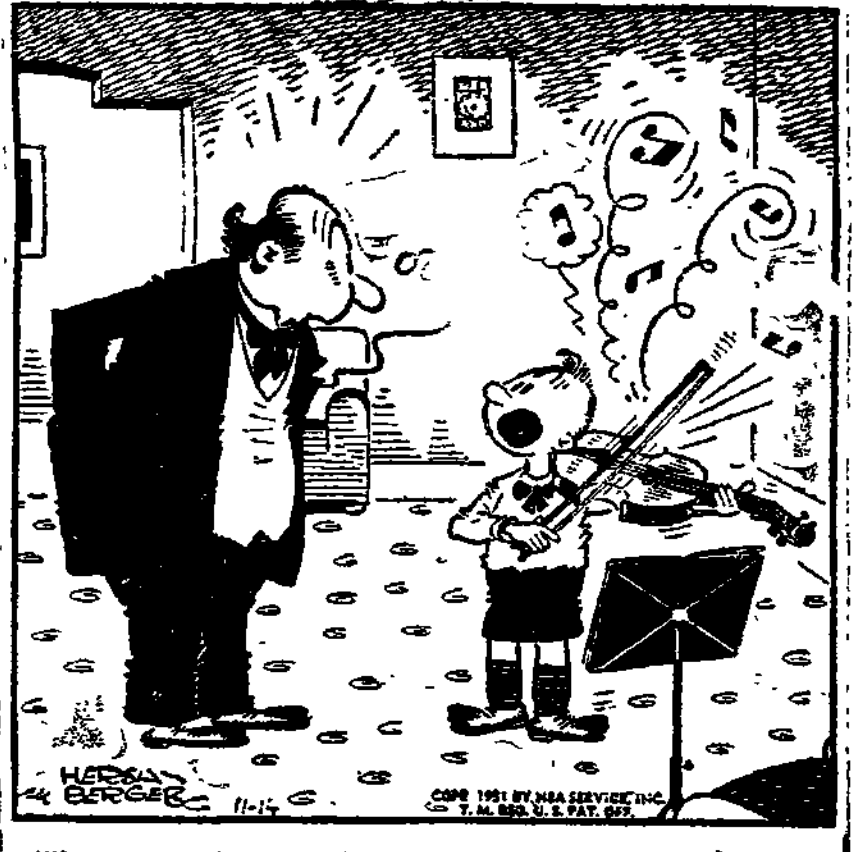

Any average West would understand what was expected of him. He would lead a second round of diamonds, forcing dummy to ruff. After that, declarer could huff and South proceeded to wrap up the slam and the rubber. South ruffed the heart, got to dummy with a club, and led the eight of spades from dummy. The eight of spades rode around successfully, and dummy continued with the three of spades. South won the second trump finesse with the queen, drew the last trump with the ace, and then ran the clubs to discard his losing diamonds.

The difference between the sensible defense and West's brainstorm was 1530 points. What's more, this sort of thing is being done all over the country in the name of the higher skill.

There is a place for the suit preference signal. When you lead a card for your partner to ruff, you can lead high to show that your entry is in the high side suit; or you lead low to show that your entry is in the low side suit. There are even one or two other ways to use suit preference, but don't dream of using it on a simple follow-suit play. In that situation, a high card should mean "Lead the suit again, partner," while a low card should mean, "Don't lead the suit again unless you have a very good reason of your own."

Rockets and Texas Win Practice Tilts In Season's Firsts

YMCA-City Basketball League practice games got a bang-off start on the "Y" court last night, the Rockets nosing out last year's champs, the Style Shop, 61-60, in an overtime, and Texas Lunch swamped Warren Business College, 72-43.

The personal foul line made the difference in the first game, the Rockets having a 5-4 favorite. The winners took an early half time lead of 27-19, but the Stylers closed the gap with a 20 point third period rally. Both quintets found the hoop for 18 counters in the closing quarter and the overtime went four to three.

Jim Peterson blazed away with 18 points to lead the Rockets' victory, Ralph Fisher accounting for a similar number for the losers.

Joe Scalise hit a hot 22 points on 10 field goals and two free tosses for Texas Lunch last night to walk away with the scoring honors. Having little trouble with the Schoolboys, Bob Foley and Ed Lindberg followed Scalise up with 16 and 13 marks respectively. Bill Weidert led WBS with 13.

J. B. Leidig, director of athletics at Warren High School, announced this morning the names of 19 boys who earned letters for the 1951 football season. Only two of these, Toby Shea and Dick Hegerty, will be returning next year. Players receiving their second letter are Charles Conway, Ben Pastrick, George Scalise, Dean Vesling and Junior Toby Shea. The senior lettermen include David Berdine, Eddie Frontera, Sam Gerardi, Edward Johnson, Hugh McGuire, Sam Pascuzzi, Bud Terry, Richard Walchli, Clark Wright, and managers Earle Campbell, Edwin Campbell, Glenn Culbertson and Richard Genberg. Hegerty is a Junior.

Nine of the playing lettermen were seniors and will cut the number of returnees lower than this season, with only two. However, Coach Leidig has several experienced men in sophomores Jim Tridico, Gene Morris and Lance Mohney to help build up a backfield quartet. The line will be a bigger problem in 1952, most of the subs being seniors this year.

CLASS C OWNERS TO CONFER IN ERIE SOON

Ebensburg, Pa., Nov. 14.—P—Club owners in the Class C Middle Atlantic Baseball League will meet November 25 in Erie to map plans for the 1952 season.

League President Elmer Daily called the meeting yesterday. He said:

"We don't know what we are going to do just yet. We had a rugged year in 1951. So did many other leagues."

The 26-year-old league operated in 1951 with only six teams and suffered heavy financial losses.

Spring Practice To Go If Big Schools Can Get Together

New York, Nov. 14.—F—Many of the nation's major colleges were ready today to follow Yale's example of dropping spring football, but they wanted assurances it be done on a national scale.

An attitude of watchful waiting generally followed the report that university presidents, alarmed over the future of the sport, were contemplating country-wide reforms likely affecting spring practice, bowl games and the two-plateau system.

Yale University, one of the ivy-covered institutions that helped give birth to American football, didn't wait to see what the others planned to do.

In a jolting announcement, Yale's president Whitney Griswold said the Eli would drop spring practice, beginning in 1952. Smaller colleges such as Williams, Wesleyan and Amherst had already taken the action. Yale was first of the big ones.

Others had talked about it, such as the 17-member Southern Conference and the nine-member Pacific Coast. They recommended the move to their conference directors and to the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the father body.

The Southern, by an overwhelming vote of its presidents, also recommended banning all bowl games. The Pacific Coast suggested re-examination of post-season football and the two-plateau system.

SHEFFIELD HIGH TEAM WILL FACE TIONESTA IN OPENING GAME AT HOME NEXT TUESDAY

Through The Wind Tunnel

(By The Staff, Distaff and Detstaff)

There are a number of Lebanon Valley alumni hereabouts who will be much interested in today's announcement that the Annville school will play Morris Harvey at Charleston, S. C., Thanksgiving.

We discovered last night that Harry's wife, Margaret, has a fine singing voice.

Jamestown sports writers may not, as is quite human, always agree. As regards one rather important matter, they are in perfect accord: Warren deserved to win the Jamestown game.

Ask Bob Scalise to give you his explanation of why there are almost as many by that name in the city directory as there are by name of Smith.

Talk about a busy place, it's the Activities Building at the YW. At noon yesterday, the long table was set for the weekly luncheon meeting of the Lions' club while 90 township officers were meeting in the auditorium, then most of these lunched in the cafeteria. Last night, you could hear the thump-thump of basketball in the gym, a truly grand dinner party was held by the B. F. M., and the lounge was set up for a card party. The Y. W. date book must be a rather interesting chronicle.

Time in Warren is growing short for that young Naval Reservist whom everyone likes so well, Jim Hengst, boys' work director at the Y. M. C. A. and son of our old friend, Clarence, who held the same job about 25 years ago. Jim reports aboard the USS Saipan on December 1.

One evening over the week-end we counted 11 persons at one time who were admiring the Warren-Jamestown miniature gridiron layout in the Clyde R. Norris window at 240 Pennsylvania avenue, west. Well done.

That open house evening announced by the K. of C. for next Tuesday when Joe Kurth, former all-American at Uotre Dame, will speak, is winning plenty of favorable comment. Members of the W.H.S. football squad and their coaches, who will be honor guests, are looking forward to the event with great pleasure.

A wistful gleam came to the eyes of most mothers who visited Warren high school for Parents' Night last evening and witnessed Coach Joe Massa skipping rope as part of his physical education program. Probably the ladies were thinking of the excess poundage they could whittle off if Joe were to start a rope-skipping class to teach them a little of the fancy footwork he displayed.

Pure coincidence, of course, but it made dyed-in-the-wool Dragon fans happy to find "Warren High Champs" right smack dab in the middle of the cover picture of a nationally distributed magazine out this week. It's Colliers, the November 24th issue, depicting teen-ager fan-scout pushing an old jalopy bearing the above designation and flying a "Warren" pennant.

A wistful gleam came to the eyes of most mothers who visited Warren high school for Parents' Night last evening and witnessed Coach Joe Massa skipping rope as part of his physical education program. Probably the ladies were thinking of the excess poundage they could whittle off if Joe were to start a rope-skipping class to teach them a little of the fancy footwork he displayed.

Pure coincidence, of course, but it made dyed-in-the-wool Dragon fans happy to find "Warren High Champs" right smack dab in the middle of the cover picture of a nationally distributed magazine out this week. It's Colliers, the November 24th issue, depicting teen-ager fan-scout pushing an old jalopy bearing the above designation and flying a "Warren" pennant.

Harrisburg, Nov. 14.—P—

There's more small game in Pennsylvania this year but fewer hunters are taking advantage of this month's open season.

The State Game Commission said today reports from all parts of the Commonwealth indicate the number of hunters is considerably lower. In some sections it is one-quarter lower than last year.

Nimrods who do get out in the woods are reaping a harvest somewhat higher than last year, incomplete reports from game wardens indicate. Cottontail rabbits, which aren't showing up as well as anticipated, are the only disappointment.

A commission spokesman said the decrease in hunting is mostly blamed on the world situation.

"Many of the young men are in service away from home and those who are working can't or don't want to take time off to hunt," he pointed out.

The wardens' reports showed that ringneck pheasants are more plentiful than last year; squirrels are at least as good as last year; and the turkey population has soared over previous years. Quail and grouse supplies are termed adequate.

A total of three fatal hunting accidents has been reported to the commission since the season opened November 1. Some 147 other hunters have been injured in the field.

The quail and ruffed grouse season ends this Saturday but other small game may be shot through Friday, November 30. Shooting hours each day, except Sundays, are from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The daily and season bag limits include: Quail, 4 and 12; ruffed grouse, 2 and 6; pheasants, 2 and 8; rabbit 4 and 20; squirrels, 4 and 20; wild turkeys, one per season.

Some nimrods will shift the sights to the bruins next week. Bear season runs from Monday through Saturday. One animal permitted to be killed by each hunter.

Antlered deer become legal between December 3 and 13 w doe season opening December and closing the next day. One either sex is the limit per hunt

THE FIRST THANKSGIVING

Illustrated by Walt Scott

With the coming of Spring, 1621, the disease had run its course. Fifty-one members of the colony survived—only 23 of them adults.

Perturbed by rumors that the Indians were planning war against them, a meeting was called in the Common House.

During the meeting, an Indian brave appeared, nonchalantly strolling down Plymouth's one street and up to the Common House.

Miles Standish parleyed with the Indian, who gave his name as Samoset, an important chieftain. He had learned English from the crews of fishing vessels.

Samoset accepted an invitation to dinner and spent the night. He was a man of good will, and told the Pilgrims how to plant corn.

The next morning, Samoset left Plymouth, with expressions of friendship on both sides.

The shopping list that can't be changed

High prices are no news today. Everybody has to face them.

But most people can juggle their shopping lists to steer clear of the highest prices, or take advantage of temporary "specials."

In the telephone business, we can't do this. It's our job to provide telephone service wherever it's wanted, as quickly as we possibly can. And today the demand for service, both civilian and military, is at an all-time high. We must keep expanding.

That's why we're buying more wire, cable, poles, switchboards and other equipment than ever before... even though wire costs 96% more than it did in 1940, cable 100%, poles 119%, trucks 140%, buildings over 100%. And so it goes, with almost every item.

In spite of this, we've been able to provide good, low-cost telephone service that keeps on growing in value, day by day. Telephone service could cost more than it does and still, in comparison with other things, be a big, big bargain.
